DR. D. H. WILLIAMS.

COL. DANIEL H. WILLIAMS.

This distinguished surgeon, formerly surgeon-in-chief of the Freedmen's Hospital, arrived in the city this week. He received a great ovation. He called upon Commissioner J. W. Ross, Secretary Bliss and others who assured him that he had their confidence and respect. Several receptions and dinners were tendered him by admiring surgeons, physicians and friends. Col. Williams is the first colored man in the United States to be appointed examining surgeon for the army.
